Museum Holds Summer Camps

Young scientists, Pre-K through 6th grade, won't want to miss a minute of this year's "Science is Everywhere" Summer Camps at the National Museum of Nuclear Science & History. These incredible week-long learning adventures will run May 30 through August 4. Campers will experience the wonders of science in sessions that include Strategy Games, Let's Get Geographic, and more. Register at www.nuclearmuseum.org/educate/kids-camp/summer-camp-2023.

TECH Celebrates Graduation Class of 2023

The Technology Leadership High School (Tech) celebrated its fifth graduation with 59 seniors. The school opened in the SS&TP in August 2015 with 90 students, and today has more than 300. Tech spent the past eight years building collaborations with and receiving support from the SS&TP companies, organizations, and partners, and Sandia National Laboratories. Tech is a public charter high school for project-based learning that focuses on the academic, social, and emotional growth of underserved youth.

City Kicks off Planning for East Gateway

The City of Albuquerque's Long Range Planning Team and City Councilor Renée Grout held an in-person event at the Manzano Mesa Multigenerational Center and a virtual meeting for the Community Planning Area Assessment for East Gateway, an area of the city that includes the SS&TP. Over 40 people attended or logged in. This will be a year-long community engagement process to help shape the future of the neighborhood. It is vital to hear from surrounding business leaders about the area's assets and opportunities. Surveys at www.cpa.abq-zone.com/east-gateway-public-engagement.
