COMPANY AND ORGANIZATION NEWS

NM Angels and NM Start-Up Factory Relocate to the Park

New Mexico Angels, a private membership organization of accredited angel investors, focuses on investing in early-stage technology companies to provide opportunities where members can obtain outstanding financial returns. New Mexico Start-Up Factory licenses technologies directly from research institutions to create investable companies by working with scientists interested in commercializing their innovations. The organizations chose to move to the SS&TP due to its proximity and affiliation with nearby research institutions. ## RECENT EVENT

SS&TP Company Leadership & Partner Picnic

The annual picnic, recently held at Ted Hobbs Park, was an informal BBQ gathering to acknowledge SS&TP leaders and community partners for their ongoing leadership and support of the Park. In addition, it was an opportunity for everyone to network and meet people from new companies who have recently moved into the SS&TP. The picnic was sponsored by the Sandia Science & Technology Park Development Corporation.

Entrepreneur Exploration

Sandia National Laboratories recently announced it has leased 1000-sq.-ft. of space in the University of New Mexico Rainforest Building. Sandia's presence will be known as C3 Downtown (Center for Collaboration and Commercialization). The Entrepreneur Exploration program will be managed out of this location in order to link Sandians with entrepreneurial opportunities and resources and to tap into the vibrant entrepreneurial ecosystem in downtown Albuquerque.
